Hold the camphor bottle to our nose! Shove a perfumed handkerchief into our eyes! The Junction City Union has commenced to print plate matter. By George! Friend Martin, whether art thou drifting?—[WA-KEENEY WORLD.]

The first thing we have to report is a carbuncle on the back of our neck. This enables us to see that a whole column plate is a very able production.—[Junction City Union.]

Senator Plumb writes a letter to the WA-KEENEY WORLD in which he says that the public schools should give more attention to "lower education." He thinks the ambition is too strong to put on the splendor of the higher branches. Thorough attention to reading and spelling will reach more people.—[Junction City Union.]

The WA-KEENEY WORLD sensibly takes the position that it is unmanly for Republicans to be begging for office under a Democratic administration, or to keep a childish howling for the enforcement of the civil service laws.—[Kawia Chief.]

The WA-KEENEY WORLD tells of a lady who has collected a string of buttons over twenty-four feet in length. No wonder our poor men folk go around with our suspenders fastened on with a splinter.—[Bull City Empire.]
